Better Be Confused Than Totalitarian

When the national peace "strike" occupies the attention of collegians on April 20, the numerous student committees and organizations against war will again voice their plea to "keep America out of war." But, as usual, they seem to be somewhat confused as to the means.

For instance, the American Student Union believes that peace can be had only by "collective security." This, in brief, is the policy of using collective might of "democratic nations" against the fascist powers. On the other hand, the Youth Committee Against War, result of a split in the ASU, advocates an isolationist policy which at present seems to favor the "cash and carry" plan. America will not furnish materials to belligerents unless they come and get it in their own ships and pay "on the barrelhead."

Although we haven't heard much of it lately, the Youth Committee for the Oxford Pledge not long ago worked strenuously for its pledge: "We refuse to support the government of the United States in any war it may undertake." Then, too, there is the Committee Against Militarism In Education which favors the abolition of compulsory ROTC.

The United Student Peace Committee of the National Student Federation of America last year recommended limitation and reduction of armaments, adherence to principles of international law, abstention from use of force in pursuit of national policies and from interference in internal affairs of other nations, support of international cooperation, and the equality of all people and races as basic to the securing of a peaceful world order. Embracing many of the other organizations, this latter group does not insist on complete agreement among its members as to interpretation of "international cooperation."

Perhaps some of these "committees" are crack-brained groups with idealistic theories which would never work out in practice—wasn't it Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who said "a page of history is worth a volume of logic?" Perhaps others are infused with foreign "propaganda" which colors their actions, but at least they all show a willingness and readiness to think. And as long as they retain that trait, no matter how confused they become, the danger of war is less imminent. It is only the totalitarians, who show by their actions that they have stopped thinking, that we have to worry about.

As Struthers Burt stresses in the April Forum, it is a healthy state to be confused over a question as vital and as time-worn as that of the best means of keeping out of war. But beware of totalitarianism. A conviction that you are 100% right is not a mark of wisdom. It soon begins to worry your friends and family, and before long you are posing as Napoleon. Our asylums are filled with totalitarians.

Watch For It In Future Issues

FIRST OF THE KENTUCKY KERNEL SURVEYS—for opinion on this campus alone—was completed the latter part of last week.

Encouraging to the advocates of a better form of student government were answers to the question "Would you support an intelligent movement for student government on this campus?" From this question asked a carefully tested cross-section of students, interviewers tabulated a 98% "yes" opinion. That, to our way of thinking, should be well-nigh convincing that there is a feeling for student government, no matter how dormant the wish may be.

Last night, too late to be actually "covered" by THE KERNEL, the committee on reorganization of student government was to make its complete report to the student forum. There was probably a good-sized group at the meeting, but that group won't be a drop in the bucket toward really obtaining student government unless it is supported by an interested and active student body.

These movements are not new. They have come almost every year, and only a few minor changes have resulted from the best of them. The same will happen this year unless a majority of students actually acquaint themselves with provisions of the proposed constitution and, if they like the plan, support it wholeheartedly.

The complete constitution will be printed soon in THE KERNEL. After that, a meeting of all students will probably be called. Read the constitution, study it, discuss it, and stand ready to make suggestions at the mass meeting.

Behind The Eckdahl

By ANDREW C. ECKDAHL

Mr. Don Irvine, who sneers delightfully, was in the newsroom yesterday and permitted us to see a copy of the proposed student government constitution drawn up by the CRSG. We don't like it. We protest.

Why if that constitution is adopted a student arranging a dance won't even be able to buy himself a postage stamp with class funds, let alone full dress accessories.

This is deplorable. The CRSG is making a deliberate attempt to take profits out of student offices, and that is bad. Profits to be obtained from class offices have long been a tradition at UK, a tradition that has attracted students to seek office.

Mark our words, if that constitution goes through, the incentive for class office will be lost, and the only ones who will seek office will be those who are qualified to govern their fellow students.

Before this CRSG dominates the campus with honest government we wish somebody would let us arrange a two-bit hop. We need a new pair of shoes.

News Note: Thirty-seven goldfish Monday swallowed a Harvard man.

We have, in recent years, read a bit about the various collegiate peace strikes, one of which will be held here April 20. But we are still a little muddled. Are they strikes for or at peace?

One idea of heaven: Just sitting around at 238 East Maxwell street and watching the Alphas' Gams.

Students who get drunk and are happy
Seldom graduate Phi Beta Kappa.

Here are some of the answers you'd like to give when an officer of the law stops you for speeding and says, "Where's your license buddy?"

1. "My name's not buddy, you stinker; it's Richard Quarterdeck Harrison, the third."
2. "I haven't got the slightest idea; where's yours?"
3. "Which do you want, hunting or fishing?"
4. "Why waste my time? In the end I'll give you five bucks anyway."
5. "License—license. What is a license?"
6. "Oh, you're the messenger boy my little son said was following us."
7. "I haven't got a license, and what's more, the car is stolen."
8. "How dare you, officer! You'll just have to take my word that we're married."
9. "Beat it or I'll call a cop."—Punch Bowl.

Every so often, someone pops into the office all in a huff wanting to know why some story or other didn't get into the paper. This is a waste of reader's time. So as a special service, that's THE KERNEL for you, always helping others, we list five reasons why stories do not appear. Next time a story in which you are interested is not printed just choose whichever reason appeals to you instead of advancing on the newsroom with fire in your eye.

Stories are left out of THE KERNEL because:

1. There was not enough room and something had to be left out.
2. Somebody lost the story before it got into type.
3. The story got into type but the editor inadvertently pied it. (If you don't know what "pi" means work a few crossword puzzles.)
4. The story was so poorly written that the copyeditors couldn't tell enough about it to write a headline.
5. The story lacked news value.

CAMPUSCENE

- Goldfish Again
- The "Campus Grind"
- Joe College On Feuding

By JIM CALDWELL

The goldfish-swallowing fad is gaining momentum among U. S. collegians, makes one wonder just when we can expect to see it break out on this campus. So widespread has the custom become that Time Magazine this week devotes two entire columns of its Education section to recounting its origin and development.

The record, at latest count, stands at 89, is held by a Clark university student. That even the supposedly weaker sex has taken up the issue was demonstrated a few days ago when a University of Missouri co-ed gained the "distinction" of being the first female to have gulped a "glitterfish."

Undoubtedly the fad will, like all others, come eventually to Kentucky. If any are interested in getting an early start, here is the technique of the matter as described by an M. I. T. freshman. Said he, "You lay the goldfish well back on the tongue, let it wiggle forward till it hits the top of the throat, then give one big gulp. Same effect as swallowing an oyster."

If you can by any chance stomach the idea (and the fish, of course), then go to it and more power to you. If the thing ever does

Campus Lore

According to an old legend, the arrival of Spring is supposed to make people want to get out and see the world. Week-end victims of this overpowering urge were C. G. Depp and John Bell. Feeling a soft spot in their hearts for New Orleans, the boys threw together a few belongings, borrowed all the "ignoble." But they do show one thing; it's going to take some pretty cagy thinking on the part of recruiting officers to get Joe College to join in a virtual suicide pact. He hates war, doesn't want to go to war, and intends to use every faculty he possesses to get out of going.

For he, mule-like, believes that he should be given the opportunity to live to a ripe old age. Let the rest of the world go to pot if it wants to, but for gosh sakes, let's allow the Americans to live a little longer. It's a good, healthy belief, and should be encouraged.

Twenty UK Graduates Hold Meeting In Pittsburgh

It was no "April Fool" when twenty loyal sons and daughters of UK gathered April 1 at the Fort Pitt hotel in Pittsburgh. H. Lee Moore, '11, did the toastmaster honors, and entertainment was provided by Dr. Ferdinand Masay, a sleight-of-hand artist. The meeting was closed with the singing of "My Old Kentucky Home." Those present were Mr. Moore, Fred Karn, '12, James D. Sprake, '05, W. W. Stevenson, '11, J. S. Misrach, '20, and Mrs. Misrach, W. D. Simpson and Mrs. Simpson, Alex Montgomery, '28, John H. Hogrefe, '16, and Mrs. Hogrefe, H. J. Litsey and Mrs. Litsey, D. M. Taylor, '25, George Mills, '10, and wife Margaret, '10, J. W. O'Dell, '16, Robert L. Botts, '37, Mrs. Lee Moore, '41, A. Paul Davison, '30, E. C. Farley, '28, and Mrs. Farley, Fred Bringardner, '38, Mrs. W. D. Miller, Louise Schmitt, '31, John Hoover, '33, and W. D. Sullivan, '17.

Washington, D. C., alumni held annual election of officers at its March meeting. The new president, succeeding Capt. Elbert DeCoursey, '24, is Col. George W. Ewell, '02, whose address is Warren Hotel, 3133 Connecticut Avenue, N.W. Re-elected to the duties of secretary-treasurer was Dudley Smith, '24, 5209 Andover Road, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Over one hundred law alumni attended the annual banquet of the club held March 29 at the Kentucky hotel in Louisville during the meeting of the Kentucky State Bar Association. Officers named were Rufus Lisle, '32, Lexington, president; Smith Hays, Jr., '16, Winchester, secretary; and Brandon Price, '35, Paducah, treasurer. Mr. Lisle succeeds Adrain Terrell, '26, of Paducah.

The University Board of Trustees at its meeting April 4 granted a leave of absence from October 1, 1939, to the close of the academic year 1940 to Professor J. D. Williams, '17, principal of University high school in Lexington. Professor Williams plans to study at Columbia University in New York. The board also accepted the resignation of Lillian Holmes, '36, as secretary in the Political Science department.

Died, James S. Watson, '08, April 6, at his home in Chicago, Illinois. Funeral services and interment were in Frankfort, Kentucky. Mr. Watson lived in Lexington until about 15 years ago. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Aubyn Chinn Watson, formerly of Frankfort, and a sister, Mrs. Latham Conger of Akron, Ohio.

Two alumni were recipients of scholarships last week. S. E. Drake, Jr., '35, has been awarded a scholarship to the Students Art League in New York City. Joseph E. Bourgeois, '36, a graduate assistant in the German department at the University, has been awarded a German Society of America scholarship for the academic year 1939-40 at the University of Munich, Germany.

Dr. A. B. Crawford, '26, principal of Bryan Station county high school, Lexington, has been appointed principal of the new Lafayette central high school which will be opened this fall, according to announcement from the Fayette county board of education.

Announcement was received April 6 of the appointment of Albert Wilson Schreck, '38, as second lieutenant in the infantry section of the Officers' Reserve Corps. Lieutenant Schreck will be assigned to the 61st Infantry in Lexington. His address is 210 State Street.

J. Winston Coleman, '20, and T. D. Clark, '29, were guests recently at a memorial dinner given in Frankfort, Kentucky, by Dr. Willard Rouse Jilson, Kentucky geologist and writer, in honor of the late Judge James H. Mulligan. Judge Mulligan, author of the world-famous poem "In Kentucky," as well as a famous jurist, once owned and lived in Maxwell Place, now the President's home on the University campus.

Alpha Xi Plans Annual State Day

Xi of Alpha Xi Delta is assisting the Lexington alumni chapter in making plans for its second annual State Day to be held Saturday, April 22.

Registration of the alumnae attending the State Day will begin at 11 o'clock at the Lafayette hotel. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock in the Red room, to be followed by a roundtable discussion.

Mrs. James Farra of Lexington will preside. The Mothers Club and the pledges will be hostesses to all the alumnae and active members at 4:30 o'clock with an informal tea at the chapter house, 251 East Maxwell street.

The Founders' Day banquet will be at 6:30 o'clock with Margaret Stewart and Emily Clay of the active chapter in charge of arrangements.

Alpha Sig Officers

Sigma of Alpha Sigma Phi announces the election of the following officers: Oscar Corbin, president; John Dooley, vice-president; Gerry Pfiehl, treasurer; Mark Cockrane, secretary; Judith Morgan, custodian; Robert Harness, marshal.

Delt Officers

Delta Epsilon of Delta Tau Delta announces the election of the following officers: J. D. Davis, president; Elvin Cooper, vice-president; Stanley Hayes, recording secretary; Jack Maylor, corresponding secretary.

Officers Elected

Omicron of Alpha Gamma Rho announces the election of the following officers: Frank E. Clark, noble ruler; Billy Smoot, vice-ruler; John K. Clore, secretary; Bob Boone, treasurer; Louis Clarkson, usher; Ben Butler, chaplain; Tony Hawkins, reporter; Frank Cox, alumni secretary; James Ison, librarian; W. Thompson, pledge captain; Billy Smoot, rush chairman; Louis Clarkson, intramural manager; W. Thompson, social chairman.

Hope-Bond

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hope of St. Petersburg, Fla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lee, to Mr. William Bond, son of Senator and Mrs. N. U. Bond of St. Petersburg, and Lexington.

The announcement was made at a dinner-dance last week at the Bath Club of St. Petersburg.

Guests from the University at the affair were Miss Hope, Adalaid Klock and Phoebe Dann.

Miss Hope is a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences and a member of Delta Delta Delta, social sorority.

"Tis said that Mary Lee Hope, whose engagement to Bill Bond was announced Sunday, is wearing a diamond as big as a golf ball. Tsk! Tsk! Such a little girl, too."

The Cannon sisters seem to have made quite a week-end of it. Sister Sally pulled off the neatest job of slipping in a dance Satidy night that has been seen in these parts in many a moon.

Barry Melloan no longer possesses his cherished chin foliage. Not only that, he lost his bet. "The army no like," he explains.

Theft Of The Week
Somebody stole Jack Clark's shoes right off his feet while he was lolling around the Cottage Saturday night.

The churches of Lexington have not yet recovered from the shock of seeing the entire Phi Delt chapter walk in Sunday morning.

Why did Marmartha Lusk call up a Sigma Nu and ask him to date her week-end guest? Could it be that her other boy friends were all dated up?

Carden Meers is reported trying to sell his ATO pin these days. Evidently he has given up all hope of ever getting over with Dot Bond.

Musings On Music
"Beer Barrel" seems to be taking the Castle Heights-goers by storm. The job entitled "Annabelle" is just a carbon copy of last year's "Josephine."

The cute little romance between Chio Ann H. Davis and SAE Bob McGill has pftft. Ann tried to fix things up by sending Bob an Easter chicken. Evidently the chicken was misinterpreted, because nothing happened.

Bob Sweeney, the peasant-hater, has lately taken to squiring Velma Swait, the gal who looks like an international spy. Wait til Vassar hears about this.

If you want to see someone turn a deep purple (o'give us Clinton), ask Crit Lowry how his love life is progressing. Seems he ain't doin' so well with Alfagamy Molly Acree these days.

Senior Women To Be Honored

Senior women will be guests of honor at the April meeting of the American Association of University Women at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, East Maxwell street.

Mrs. Frank L. McVey, state president of the A. A. U. W., will speak on "The Responsibility of Being a College Graduate." Mrs. Frank Hughes, president of the Lexington Branch, will preside. Mrs. James Strauss, general chairman of the Senior Tea, will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Little and members of the Recent Graduate group.

FOR THE FIRST TIME! The Amazing Story of STALIN'S SECRET OPERATIONS IN SPAIN

A revealing document by the only general to escape the Red Army purge

► Russia was in Spain—deeper than anyone knew. Why did Stalin intervene? How? Who were his secret agents? What did Stalin get out of it? In the Post this week, General W. G. Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

With my predictions I always have been tighter than a wet shoe, not much.

But after continued pressure from the people and hours of study over insurance mortality rates, slot machine percentages and finally a coin flip, the pennant winners of the 1939 major league baseball derby are ready to be recorded.

The National league race is slated to close: 1. New York; 2. Cincinnati; 3. Chicago; 4. St. Louis; 5. Pittsburgh; 6. Boston; 7. Brooklyn; 8. Philadelphia. The American league standing no doubt will be: 1. New York; 2. Boston; 3. Detroit; 4. Cleveland; 5. Washington; 6. Chicago; 7. St. Louis; 8. Philadelphia.

Observers say the punch this year will once again come from the National league fight so here are a few reasons, simple as Simon himself, why I think the top four teams in the Senior Circuit will click.

bridgegroom at the church door threatens to lead to the Red's ruin. Frank McCormack at first is plenty o. k. but—The second base combination of Myers to Riggs is the best in the league—Three I League. Great things are expected of Bill Werber over on third base but, judging from last year's records, the hopes are a bit unfounded. Last season with the Philadelphia Athletics Werber hit the ball—mostly in someone's hands—and collected an average of .259 while his fielding was the fifth best in the league. Then too, it is an accepted fact that Connie Mack, Philadelphia manager, is not one to let players who are in their prime slip away, especially for the price he received for Werber.

Still, when you look at a pitching staff like Derringer, Vander Meer, Walters, Grissom, Moore—you wonder. Mayb I should have placed them first.

Chicago

Because of two pitchers, Bill Lee and Clay Bryant, I select the Cubs to hit third place. In most books Gabby Harnett's crew is ranked higher but aside from Lee and Bryant the Cubs have too few dependable pitchers. Still there's hope. Last year Larry French lost 19 games, he can't do worse than that this season because the Navy of averages will take care of him. Dizzy Dean can't break a curve because it breaks his arm, yet he should do better than his four wins of the past year. If Dean's arm has recovered from its own depression the Dizzy one could literally toss the Cubs into their second straight league title.

The securing of Hank Leiber for an outfield post will add to the punch at the plate but the loss of Augie Galan won't help the cause at all. Galan pulled up with the miseries in his left knee Saturday and won't be able to open the season. Dick Bartell, counted upon as the shortstop, already had carried his rheumatic pains to bed. After a try at the outfield last year Phil Cavaretta bounced back like a rubber check to first base where he seems a fixture. Bill Herman and Stan Hack at second and third are both tested and proven. In case Bartell is out permanently, Steve Mesner, up from the bushes, will cover short.

A lot of experts are picking the Cubs because they like Manager Gabby so well—but why shouldn't they like him, after all he's the fellow who tells them when they can quit and go home.

St. Louis

The remarkable fighting spirit and player-reserve, that once was so much a part of the Cardinals now has disappeared from the face of the earth like bell bottomed trousers and horse cars. The management has done a thorough job of removing the color from the team, in fact they aren't just faded, they're bleached.

First Dizzy Dean, redder of the red spots, was shipped away, then Frank Frisch, rough and ready manager, was erased with Ripper Collins. Then Leo Duracher was sold down the river to Brooklyn, leaving the team a total shell.

Still possibilities are lurking. If Manager Ray Blades, who quit at Rochester to give the Cards a transfusion, can find someone to sing a second base in his chorus, the team might roll. At first base is Johnny Mize, one of the best hitters in the game, while across at third is Don Gutteridge, who will

SWORDSMEN WIN OVER TECH, 9-8

Led by Scott Breckinridge, who turned in four wins, the Kentucky fencing team climaxed its season with a close 9-8 verdict over Georgia Tech Friday afternoon in Alumni Gym.

In the foil fighting, Breckinridge captured all three of his tests, then took the place of an absent saberman and clinched the team's wins with a 5-4 nod over Ripberger. Norman Wides was second high for Kentucky with triumphs in both his epee bouts.

The win concluded Kentucky's second year in intercollegiate sword circles. The Wildcat record for the season shows two decisions in 8 matches. The other victory was a narrow verdict over the La Planchette Club of Cincinnati two weeks ago.

George Tech held the upper hand in the saber fighting by 3-1, tied 2-1 in the epee competition and lost the foils by a 6-3 margin.

do because of his fielding. The short stop-second-base combination will be drawn from Joe Orango, Jim Brown, Stu Martin or Maury Sturdy. Joe Medwick probably has no peer as an outfielder but the remainder of the fly chasers aren't so hot. The halting legs of Martin may keep him out of most of the games leaving Bordagaray, T. Moore and Padgett to carry on.

A couple of young pitchers, Tom Sunkel and Bob Bowman, carry the Cards hope for a first division post. Aside from Lon Warneke, Bob Weiland and Curt Davis, the remainder of the staff is uncertain. Paul Dean is back for another try after a stay in the Texas League. If the Cards could dress their opponents in Texas League uniforms Dean would probably be a 20-game winner. He reacts to a Texas uniform like Santa Anna.

Because of the long bats of Medwick and Mize and the promising pitchers, I'm taking St. Louis as the fourth place club in my pick and pray party.

DELAY SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT GAMES

Opening round games in the Intramural department's annual softball tournament, originally billed to get under way this afternoon, have been postponed until April 19 because of conflict with Spring Vacation.

A total of nine fraternity and two independent teams have listed for the games which will be played on campus fields and at Woodland Park. In order to qualify for the final tournament each team must win three of their first five warm-up games.

Meanwhile badminton, golf and horseshoe, singles and doubles, are advancing into the second round.

What is your I.Q. on Style?

(For Men Only)

White handkerchiefs should always be worn with white shirts.

YES NO

Answer: Although white handkerchiefs are perfect with white shirts, there's a steadily increasing trend toward colored handkerchiefs that harmonize or contrast with your tie. Arrow handkerchiefs, 25c up. Arrow ties, $1.00 & $1.50.

Shirt sleeves should fall below the cuff of your suit coat.

YES NO

Answer: Yes, from one-quarter to three-quarters of an inch of your shirt cuff should show beneath your coat sleeve. And the best shirt to show is an Arrow. $2.00 up.

Small. Feasibly & Co., Inc., Troy, N. Y.

Q. How close to ground should trousers hang?

A. Pegged trousers should hang just low enough to touch your instep at the bottom laces. Straight-cut trousers should touch between the bottom lace and the back of the toe cap, and should have one slight "break" above the instep.

Q. Is there such an animal as a comfortable pair of shorts?

A. There is... and they're Arrow shorts. Arrows haven't the center seam you find in so many shorts—the seams that make shorts chafe and ride up. Arrow shorts, 65c up. Undershirts, 50c up.

If it hasn't an Arrow label, it isn't Arrow.
